A Message from the Secretary of the Army

On behalf of the United States Army, I am honored to congratulate the Army Dental Corps on achieving its 100th anniversary. This is a remarkable milestone and I applaud all members – past and present – who have contributed to help the Corps reach its Centennial.

The Army Dental Corps has a proud, century-long history of service to Soldiers and their Families, dating back to its infancy at the United States Military Academy at West Point. Early leaders were visionary in crafting a Dental Corps that not only served the Soldier, but also influenced and advanced the dental profession at large. Much of the significance and prestige that the American Dental Association now enjoys can be traced to the roots of Army Dentistry. In our Army, the Dental Corps has always been the trusted guardian and advocate for excellence in dental care for Soldiers and their Families.

All members of the Army Dental Care System should be extremely proud of the accomplishments and contributions achieved over the past century. Please accept my heartfelt congratulations on achieving this milestone, and my personal best wishes for much continued success.

Army Strong!
